Accrington's Tony has been to all 92 football league grounds to cheer on his beloved team

By SAM CHADDERTON

DEDICATION: Tony Yates has travelled thousands of miles to support his favourite football team

An avid Burnley fan is celebrating watching his beloved team play at every stadium in the football league.

Tony Yates has taken the term "football fan" to a new level after visiting all 92 league grounds to cheer on the Clarets.

The 43-year-old father of two has clocked up thousands of miles to watch Burnley FC since 1978, although he comes from a family of Blackburn Rovers supporters.

Tony said: "My first game was when I was 11 during the 1978 campaign at Turf Moor.

"Since then I have seen them everywhere and it's been fantastic, especially as a Premier League team now.

"My favourite moment was beating Plymouth Argyle 3-1 in the 1994 play-off Semi Final at their place, because we drove 330-miles to get there, and their chairman was on the radio saying how the game was theirs.

"I realised last year that the only stadiums I had not been to were Arsenal, Chelsea and Everton, and of course we beat the two London clubs in the cup, so I scratched those off.

"And this season I made sure I went to Goodison Park to mark the last club for me to attend out of all the teams which were in the league back in 1978."

Tony, who works in accounts for Abel2 in Mill Hill, said his love for the Clarets has won over his eldest son and fellow season ticket holder Alex, 11, who used to be a Manchester United fan.

His wife Pam, and youngest son Dan, four, have also been watching home games this season.

Tony, of Bold Street, Accrington, said: "My family have really started getting into the team so before long we will all have season tickets probably.

"I get a lot of stick working in Mill Hill from Rovers fans, but it's all good banter.

"The away trips have always been a great experience and I plan to continue supporting Burnley despite Coyle's departure.

"I feel that he has probably taken the club as far as he could but he has done himself no favours whatsoever in the way he has conducted himself in engineering his move to Bolton, leaving us with no backroom staff.

"I now think Sean O'Driscoll could be a good replacement."

Tony also helps run Accrington Clarets, driving the Turf Moor faithful to away games.

Help birds to stay alive

The RSPB has appealed to the public to help Lancashire's bird population survive the exceptionally cold spell.

The charity is among a group of organisations calling for people not to disturb flocks of ducks, geese, swans and wading birds at canals and lakes as freezing temperatures continue.

This week the Society has also made a plea for householders to put out food and water for garden birds, which need extra help during spells of extreme weather.

Dr Mark Avery, the RSPB's director of conservation, said: "During freezing conditions birds use far more energy than usual keeping warm so they have to spend more time fattening themselves up.

"Large flocks of wetland birds, such as ducks, geese and waders, can be disturbed by people getting too close to them.

"This disturbance causes them to expend their energy needlessly and if they can't find sufficient food to replace their energy levels then these birds are existing on borrowed time.

"We hope everyone will heed our advice, allowing the millions of birds which visit the UK's coasts and wetlands during the winter to stand a better chance of survival."

Fall mum hails son Lewis, 10, her 'hero'

By CHRIS HOPPER

A mum has hailed her 10-year-old son 'my hero' after he calmly called emergency services when she slipped and was knocked unconscious on treacherous ice.

Nicola Stevens was walking through the Coppice, in Accrington, with son Lewis when she lost her footing and slipped down a hill.

She was briefly knocked unconscious by the fall, leaving the youngster alone to care for his mum in sub-zero temperatures.

Within seconds, quick-thinking Lewis, a pupil at Peel Park Primary School, had grabbed Nicola's mobile phone from her pocket and called emergency services.

The youngster told an operator what had happened and an ambulance was sent.

In the meantime, Lewis and two passers-by helped keep Nicola warm as she came round from the bump.

She said: "It was quite an ordeal for Lewis, but he was so calm and I feel he deserves some recognition after what he did. In the past, I have taught him about calling the emergency services and some basic first-aid, and it had obviously stayed with him. The paramedics said afterwards that I was dangerously close to hypothermia, so Lewis and the passers-by keeping me warm saved me. I am really, really lucky and so proud of Lewis. He is my hero now."

STAYED CALM: Nicola Stevens with son, Lewis, who used his mum's mobile phone to call the emergency services when she slipped and was knocked unconscious on ice in Accrington

Nicola, a dance student at Accrington and Rossendale College, was treated at the Royal Blackburn Hospital.

Lewis said: "After my mum fell, I just thought that I had better do something. I was panicking a bit, but I tried to stay calm and remember what she had taught me."

Nicola, from Accrington, now wants to thank the mystery pair who helped Lewis. She also praised the ambulance crews who attended.

NARROW: Rural roads in Darwen; and Coun Julie Slater, of East Rural Network

Sat-nav threat to stone walls

Dry stone walls in rural areas of Darwen are being damaged as sat-navs are misdirecting HGVs, according to an action group.

Members of the East Rural Network, made up of residents, businesses and friends groups, have been applying for funding to repair the walls, which they say are essential to the character and history of the area.

Coun Julie Slater, chairman of the East Rural Network, said: "The dry stone walls keep getting knocked down by HGVs.

"It happens all over this area, but particularly in places like Pickup Bank where, since the arrival of sat-navs, HGV drivers have been directed up narrow country lanes that are not suitable.

"Cars also speed along the lanes and sometimes they can hit and cause a lot of damage.

"The council's highways department come along every now and again to repair the damage.

"But the stone walls cost a lot to repair and there isn't the money in the budget any more.

"We can't keep going to the council to ask for the repairs and pots of money, so that is why we're trying to do something ourselves."

The group has applied for funding to carry out repair work, to drinks manufacturer Bovril, which is running a £100,000 online competition to support projects that improve Britain's countryside.

The East Rural Network's application is currently in the top 100 projects, ranked on the number of votes.

The first phase of voting ends on January 28.

If the East Rural Newtork's application remains in the top 100 projects by that date, it will be entered into the second and final stage of voting, to find winners of the competition, which ends on February 28. To cast your vote, visit www.bovril.co.uk/revival/info/NWRA000247

Job hunting

The company which owns the Old Rosins Inn is trying to find jobs for the nine staff affected by its closure.

The Pickup Bank hotel, which dates back to the 17th century, was taken over by Darwen-based metalworking compamy WEC Group five years ago.

Now the group has pulled out of funding the hotel after a dip in trade.

The 15-bedroomed hotel and restaurant is on the market and offers are invited.

Brassed Off

Film goers can catch a screening of the hit film Brassed Off at Darwen Library Theatre next month.

The film starring Pete Postlethwaite, Ewan McGregor and Tara Fitzgerald will be shown on Tuesday, February 2, at 2pm

Vehicle seized

Problems with scooters and mini motos being ridden around Sandringham Road and Clifton Street have been reported by concerned residents.

So far one vehicle has been seized by officers and a number of seizure warnings have been issued to riders.

Thieves left

Town centre officers say reports of thefts have led them to actively target two known shoplifters.

And, after a focus on the identified criminals, officers say they have not been seen in the town.

Matron Sharon on call for war zone

By SAM CHADDERTON

Mother-of-three Sharon Stewart is not your average nurse.

By day she is a matron and acting general manager at a private hospital, but by night she is preparing to be dropped into the world's most dangerous warzone.

Trained medic Sharon is one of the Lancashire-based '207 Field Hospital' team of Territorial Army volunteers who are training towards a probable three-month deployment to the Helmand Province, Afghanistan, around Christmas 2010.

She will help run the British military hospital at Camp Bastion which cares for servicemen and women injured on the frontline.

Sharon, who works at Euxton Hall Hospital, Chorley, claims swapping hip replacements for blast victims will involve similar principles and pressure and said she was looking forward to the challenge.

She added: "It's still about patient care and keeping people informed, just different clientele. Obviously Helmand is not like Euxton, but I feel safe with a highly trained organisation.

"Yes, it's a dangerzone, but I've no fears for my own safety. I'm not on the frontline like the boys."

Sharon, 41, spent three months with the TA in Iraq in 2004 and said she would draw on those experiences in tough conditions.

"I will be managing the journey of those admitted, whether that's theatre or flying them back. My mission is to look after injured soldiers so they get the best care.

"My three children are aged 14, 10 and three years old. They are very worried and ask me why I'm not like 'normal mums'. I think they're more concerned about not getting Christmas presents while I'm away!

"My husband, Guy, is very proud and fully supportive."

Sharon, who joined the TA in 1991, and her team have been undergoing intense fitness training and practice scenarios at a specialist facility in York. It recreates the sounds of Afghanistan with sirens wailing and actors playing injured soldiers.

"We have all the departments you would expect to find in a normal hospital: an A&E department, theatre, pathology, X-ray, physio, intensive treatment and the wards.

"For me, this is about doing something worthwhile for your country. Not everyone has the opportunity to be called upon to do something for their country and to support our soldiers out on operations."

‘Exciting’ as work set to start on new college

The first stages of a new-look schools landscape in Blackburn with Darwen is set to get underway.

Work was due to start on Pleckgate Mathematics and Computing College’s new building in Blackburn this week.

Hoardings had been due to be put up last week, but this was postponed due to heavy snow and freezing conditions.

The main construction work, carried out by Balfour Beatty under the Building Schools for the Future (BSF) programme, will begin in February.

FIRST: Coun Chris Thayne

The new building will be constructed on a site behind the existing school.

Over the next few weeks access points to the school will remain the same, and any changes to this will be co-ordinated by Balfour Beatty with the school to ensure students’ safety.

The new school is due to open in September 2011.

Coun Chris Thayne, Blackburn with Darwen Council’s executive member for children’s services, said: “This is the first school under our BSF programme to start initial construction and it is a very exciting time for the borough and the school.”

Hidden homeless: call for more help

By NEIL DOCKING

The founder of a safe haven for the homeless says more help is needed to tackle the growing numbers of ‘hidden homeless’ people.

Sister Dorothy McGregor runs Maundy Relief, in Accrington.

Her team of volunteers provide shelter, food and drink, counselling and round-the-clock advice for people with housing and social issues from their base in Abbey Street.

But she is concerned that people are not aware of the scale of the problem the charity faces, because official statistics for homeless people in East Lancashire do not take into account those who fail to meet the definition of homelessness.

FOOD: Soup kitchens help those in need

CONCERN: Sister Dorothy McGregor

The ‘hidden homeless’ include people who have not applied to be classified as homeless, or have been judged to be ‘not in priority’.

From January to November last year Maundy Grange helped an average of 73 different people each month, who it has registered as being homeless, or as having housing issues.

But figures used by Lancashire County Council show just five households in Hyndburn are accepted as homeless and in priority need.

And while the Department for Communities and Local Government statistics from April 2008 to March 2009 indicate there are 210 accepted households of this type across East Lancashire, research by homeless people’s charity Crisis suggests this figure could actually be ten times that number, at 2,101.

Sister McGregor believes there is a growing group of ‘hidden homeless’ who are sharing squats, or ‘couch surfing’, rather than sleeping rough.

She said: “This time of year a lot of people take each other in, because even if it is a case of sleeping on the floor, it is better than being outside.

“People think of people sleeping on park benches, or in cardboard boxes, and maybe in the big cities it is like that.

“If you travel through the centre of town here you might say there are no homeless people.

“But that is because they are in empty buildings, in cars, sleeping on a friend’s sofa, on a floor, or in squats.

“They are hidden. They will be one place one night and somewhere else the next.

“But there is no criteria here for seeing anybody. Any age, any religion, any colour, anybody can walk through our door and be seen and helped.”

Maundy Grange is open from 9.30am to 8pm.

Poet in print at age of 8

By NAFEESA SHAN

A budding poet, aged just eight, has had her first poem published.

Little Sanna Nazakat wowed judges with her short poem Happiness, which beat over 65,000 entries to be one of 300 poems to be printed.

The Hyndburn Park Primary School, Accrington, pupil received an unexpected letter and certificate from the competition organisers Young Writers'. And her parents, dad Nazakat and mum Kaneez Bibi, were pleased and proud.

Happiness will be printed alongside others in Poetry Explorers 2009, which will be on sale from February 28.

Young Writers' holds the competition annually to help build children's literacy and creative skills by encouraging them to write about a subject and theme.

Sanna joins 15 other children from her school who entered the competition and were also chosen to feature in this year's edition of the book for the North West region.

Sanna, who features in the 19th edition, produced a 'creative piece of distinction' according to Young Writers' and picked up a creativity award for her hard work.

HAPPINESS

Happiness is going to Year 4
Happiness is shopping in Blackburn
Happiness is having a picnic
Happiness is getting new stuff
Happiness is sitting in the sun

By Sanna Nazakat

She said: "I wrote it at school and did it on my own. I'm really happy and it was a shock. I can't wait to see the book"

Dad Nazakat Ali, 36, of Whalley Road, Accrington, said: "She was really happy about it and didn't expect it at all. It's the first time she has done anything like this and I'm really happy for her. She is writing all the time."

Her headteacher John Boden said: "I'm really astounded. The children have done really well and it was something they took a great deal of pride in."

New romance in Candleford?

Olivia Hallinan plays Laura Timmins in the period winter warmer Lark Rise to Candleford that's just returned to BBC1 on Sundays for a third series. Olivia, 25, started acting aged seven, but made her name as teenage lesbian Kim in the critically-acclaimed Channel 4 drama, Sugar Rush. She's also appeared in Torchwood and Trial and Retribution.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ...OLIVIA HALLINAN

YOUR CHARACTER, LAURA, IS THE NARRATOR. HOW HAS SHE CHANGED SINCE THE FIRST SERIES?

She's not that lost little girl who arrived in Candleford, petrified. She's been on a real social and emotional journey and just grown up really. It's three years down the line and she's taken on more responsibility. She's still loyal to her Lark Riser roots, but she's more mature.

IF PEOPLE HAVEN'T SEEN THE FIRST TWO SERIES, WILL THEY BE ABLE TO FOLLOW WHAT'S HAPPENING?

I think anyone could pick up on it. For those who have been following it, there are new characters who change things quite a bit with the dynamic between us all.

LAST TIME WE SAW LAURA, SHE'D HAD HER HEART BROKEN. ARE THINGS LOOKING UP FOR HER ON THE ROMANCE FRONT?

You'd think she'd be over men, but a man called Daniel Parish arrives in Candleford who she immediately takes a liking to. He's a writer, so they have that in common.

DID YOU HAVE A SAY IN WHO WAS CAST AS DANIEL?

They called me in and there were four guys I had to read with, so it was quite interesting. It was like, 'Oh, he's good', 'He's nice'. I think they picked a good one. Ben Aldridge is great. He's in the whole series and so their relationship has its ups and downs. It starts off well and then he turns into a bit of an idiot. He does something that betrays her family and when someone crosses that line, Laura's not happy.

Sensational soul

The best of local talent, top tributes and an appearance by a soul legend are some of the highlights of the new season's line-up at Colne Muni. JOHN ANSON looks at the upcoming events.

Perhaps the biggest name at the Muni will be arguably Britain's greatest soul singer Ruby Turner, who plays the venue on Friday, February 19.

The vocalist, who regularly features with Jools Holland's Rhythm and Blues Orchestra, will be promoting her latest album, I'm Travelling On – a collection of her favourite gospel songs.

Other live music lined up are Seventies soul sensations The Real Thing, featuring three original members Chris and Eddy Amoo and Dave Smith.

The band, who had three number one singles with You To Me Are Everything, Can't Get By Without You, and Feel the Force, will play the Muni on Saturday, April 10.

And top East Lancashire soul band Soul Deep will be making a welcome return to the Muni, on Saturday, May 8, as part of their 10-year reunion tour.

The nine-piece soulsters are fronted by charismatic vocalist Geno and Deepettes Michelle and Lisa. Expect an evening of Stax and Motown classics and 'dance to the music'!

Some of the best tribute acts on the circuit are a key part of the Muni programme, including Ga Ga, a Queen tribute, on Saturday, February 20; Limehouse Lizzy on Saturday, March 6, and a double bill of T-Rextasy and Aladdinsane, featuring the songs of David Bowie, on Friday, April 16.

● For full details of all the events, call the box office on 01282 661234 or visit www.themuni.co.uk

Advice on ice
Three lads walking on an American lake,
A life threatening risk all three were to take.
The young lads fell into the lake's frigid waters last weekend,
Two were recovered at the bottom,an unfortunate end.
Hypothermia had taken their lives in a very short time.
The third did survive and from the lake did climb.
So before taking a walk on a canal,pond or lake,
Please think of those three lads on that American lake.
